Put CRISCO to this Test

A severe test for any shortening is its use in hot bread. Make some Crisco biscuit; they are delicate—in looks, odor and taste. They are light and daintily brown. Break one open and you will be delighted with the appetizing aroma, free from any suggestion of lard. They are just as wholesome and digestible as their delicacy promises.

You will find equally as attractive points about Crisco in other branches of cooking. For instance, you can fry without smoke and odor. You can use the same Crisco for frying all manner of foods and all will have a new wholesomeness.

You can make a light rich cake with Crisco which will keep fresh and moist longer.

You will obtain delicious, digestible and economical foods by knowing Crisco better.

Below is a good biscuit recipe, or you may use your own favorite recipe by using from 1/5 to 1/4 less Crisco than you would of lard. Note how Crisco stands the test.

Baking Powder Biscuits

2 cupsful flour 1 teaspoonful salt
2 teaspoonfuls 2 tablespoonfuls Crisco
baking powder 3/4 cupful milk
(Level measurements)

Sift together the dry ingredients. Mix thoroughly with the Crisco, using a knife or spoon, and add gradually the milk, mixing with a knife to a soft dough. Toss on floured board, pat and roll to one-half inch in thickness. Shape with a biscuit cutter, place on a floured tin and bake in a hot oven 12 or 15 minutes.

DARING HELEN IS ONCE MORE HERE

Miss Helen Holmes, hero in hundreds of exciting episodes when depicting scenes and incidents identified with the operation of railroads, has turned to a new and unique phase in the presentation of drama. Miss Holmes returns to the Empire Theater today in an offering in which heart-interest and romance predominate. With this daring little performer in the title role the two-part dramatization of Richard Chapman's stirring play, "The Mistle of Jerry McGuire," has won popularity on the mainland stage. J. P. McGowan, a favorite with patrons of silent drama, has a congenial part. Irish wit serves to place the production far above the ordinary.

Billy Reeves, eccentric comedian, one of the cleverest acrobats in the business, has been assigned a leading part as chief funmaker in the comedy, "What the Parrot Said." In provoking continuous laughter, Reeves is rated a close second to the international 7 famous Charlie Chaplin.

Wild jungle beasts, including tigers, lions and other animals are brought before the spotlight in the drama, "The Baby and the Leopard."
